THE EXPERIENCE

---

Visit twelve historic locations where African American schools once stood around Dorchester County, Maryland. Some still stand today, while others are now empty plots of land. Take in the sights, learn about the history of each school, and explore this region in a way you never have before.

The tour is an estimated two-hour self-guided trip, though you can take it at your own pace. Follow our step-by-step directions, or pick a few locations from our list of your choosing and enjoy the journey.

OUR GOAL

---

We wished to highlight historic African American schools to share this previously underrepresented portion of Dorchester history. We hope to encourage others to develop a greater interest in African American history, culture, and heritage within this region and to share their knowledge.

HOW TO GET STARTED

---

Scan the QR code below or find our website online, then follow the History tab to view the Driving Tour. You will see a list of addresses and basic directions to visit each of the locations on this tour.
